

David Burner Bio / Introduction

David Burner is the Strategic Planning & Partnership Manager for Notarize. In his role, David is responsible for advising the mortgage ecosystem to help lenders develop their digital mortgage strategies. David is also responsible for leading customer education and sales enablement to expand remote online closings within the real estate industry.

Prior to joining Notarize, Burner was a top producing loan officer for several non-bank lenders, where he managed realtor relationships. He was also a producing manager specializing in training new loan officers entering the housing finance market. David attributed his success to leveraging technology to improve the home buying and refinance process for his clients.
